FIRST COMMUNITY BANK SUPPORTS TEXAS BANKERS FOUNDATION RELIEF FUND WITH $10,000 DONATION FOR HILL COUNTRY FLOOD RECOVERY

CORPUS CHRISTI, TEXAS (July 11, 2025) — In response to the devastating floods that swept through Kerrville and the Texas Hill Country over Fourth of July weekend, First Community Bank has committed $10,000 to support ongoing recovery efforts through the Texas Bankers Foundation Flood Relief Fund.

First Community Bank employees pulled together, raising $5,000 in just three days. The bank matched that amount dollar for dollar, bringing the total donation to $10,000. The contribution will go directly to help flood victims with immediate needs such as food, clothing, shelter, and other essentials.

“We were heartbroken to see the damage these floods have caused to our neighbors,” said Wes Hoskins, President and CEO of First Community Bank. “Our employees stepped up without hesitation, and we’re proud to stand alongside community banks across Texas in providing meaningful support to those hit hardest.”

First Community Bank is one of many financial institutions participating in the Texas Bankers Foundation’s coordinated statewide effort to aid flood recovery. The Foundation, a charitable arm of the Texas Bankers Association, is working with local organizations, including the Kerrville-based Community Foundation of the Texas Hill Country, to ensure donations are delivered directly to those affected.

“Community is at the heart of everything we do, and we’ll continue to show up when it matters most.”
